China plays extradition tit-for-tat

CHINA has suspended Hong Kong's extradition treaty with the UK in a tit-for-tat response to Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab's similar move.

The UK suspended the treaty "immediately and indefinitely" on July 20 due to concerns that controversial security legislation imposed on the territory could allow cases to be transferred to mainland China.

Beijing has now retaliated in similar terms, suspending the treaty with the UK and other countries which have taken action in response to the national security law.

Foreign ministry spokesman Wang Wenbin said the actions by the UK, Canada and Australia in relation to Hong Kong constituted "gross interference in China's internal affairs and severe violation of international law and norms of international relations".

Virus-hit firms loaned £50bn

ALMOST £50bn of loans to businesses hit by COVID-19 have been approved so far, the Treasury said.

This includes £33.68bn in bounce-back loans for 1,113,312 businesses.

The Government, which is guaranteeing the vast majority of the loans should they not be repaid, added that £12.65bn has been endorsed through the coronavirus business interruption loan scheme and £3.1bn to larger firms.

Latest figures 1.2m businesses are claiming a total of £31.7bn for the 9.5m workers on furlough through the coronavirus job retention scheme.

SEFRIDGES AXE 450 JOBS

HIGH-END department store chain Selfridges has told staff it plans to cut 450 jobs – around 14 per cent of its total headcount – with annual sales set to be "significantly less" than last year due to the pandemic.

Managing director Anne Pitcher said high streets were changing even before COVID-19 and the upmarket retailer has now been forced to make "fundamental changes".

She promised staff who are on furlough that the fact they were not working now would have no effect on whether their role would be impacted. She also promised staff they would receive more information on today.

Ms Pitcher said in an email to Selfridges staff: "With sales this year forecast to be significantly less than they were in 2019, it will, without doubt, be the toughest year we have experienced in our recent history."

"As a family business, the hardest decisions are the ones that affect our people, which is why it pains me to share news today of the toughest decision we have ever had to take that we will, regrettably, need to make a 14 per cent net reduction in our headcount, approximately 450 roles."

Selfridges' announcement comes after it emerged the chancellor is considering a new tax on goods sold online in a bid to save the high street post-coronavirus.

The tax could be a two per cent levy on online sales, which would raise £2bn a year, or a charge on deliveries, as part of a campaign to cut congestion and emissions.

The move comes after Chancellor Rishi Sunak highlighted concerns that business rates are effectively penalising high street stores and giving internet retailers an unfair advantage.

Other countries may join Spain on quarantine list as virus cases surge across Europe

WE'RE NOT GOING ON A SUMMER HOLIDAY...

LIFE'S A BEACH: Spain's shores should be swarming with Brits

By ROY DURRIDGE news@sundaysport.co.uk

FOREIGN summer holidays look DOOMED for 2020 with other European countries set to join Spain on the UK's quarantine list and experts warning: "Don't book unless you can afford to lose money".

Ministers decided to reimpose quarantine travel restrictions on Spain after it emerged 10 Britons had returned from the country with coronavirus and Professor Chris Whitty said "doing nothing isn't an option".

The Government's COVID-19 committee met on Saturday afternoon after Health Secretary Matt Hancock raised concerns about a spike in Spanish infections on Friday.

Ministers were told there had been an increase in infection in 15 of Spain's 19 regions but the clincher was the fact that 10 Britons had recently tested positive after coming back from the country.

There are growing fears that holidays in France and Germany could also be axed due to rising infection rates.

Meanwhile, local government minister Simon Clarke said yesterday the British public will just have to accept there is a "degree of uncertainty" around foreign travel at the moment.

Spain has reacted with dismay after Britain put the country on the plague list and its Prime Minister Pedro Sanchez said the move by Britain was an "error" and is "unjust".

Brits make up over a fifth of foreign visitors to Spain, which relies heavily on tourism, and Madrid has said the UK government gave it no warning that the quarantine move was coming last weekend.

Measures

Travel firm TUI UK cancelled all holidays to the Balearic Islands and Canary Islands after the Foreign Office updated its travel advice last night.

The announcement of the Government's new Spanish travel warnings came after PM Boris Johnson's spokesman said decisions on border measures and travel advice "can be changed rapidly if necessary to help stop the spread of the disease".

He went on: "Our travel advice and exemption list is under constant review."

Guy Anker from MoneySavingExpert said: "People who booked a holiday or took out insurance after mid-March are not going to be covered by a local lockdown or the decision to change travel advice."

"My advice would be, do not spend any money at the moment that you can't afford to lose, or where flexibility is not written into your airline ticket or hotel booking."

ADVICE: Professor Whitty

TODAY'S WEATHER

TODAY, high pressure will start to build across the UK, giving a largely dry and settled day with some sunny spells and areas of cloud. Rain could build into parts of Wales later. Temperatures of 19C in London, 18C in Cardiff, 17C Manchester, Belfast in Edinburgh. Tomorrow will see rain

Maddie cops take diggers to allotment

GERMAN police were yesterday searching an allotment near Hannover in connection with the Madeleine McCann case.

Police were at the scene early in the morning with "heavy equipment" including an excavator, near where suspect Christian Brueckner is known to have lived.

A spokeswoman said: "I can confirm that the search is being carried out in connection with our investigations into the Maddie case."

What police were searching for was not clear, but Brueckner is known to have lived in a trailer in the area in between spells of living in Portugal.

German authorities have been leading the investigation since Brueckner emerged as the new chief suspect last month.

The convicted rapist is currently in prison in Kiel, although legal proceedings are underway which could see him released shortly after two-thirds of his sentence.

Government in racism rap

THE Government has been accused of "dragging its feet" on tackling racism.

David Isaac, who is set to step down as chairman of the Equality and Human Rights Commission next week, made the claim as he called for a coherent race strategy to be implemented.

In an interview with the BBC, Mr Isaac said he does not believe the issue has been made a priority.

He said: "There are lots of people, particularly of colour, who need to be supported, and for that reason a coherent race strategy is a top priority."

Equalities minister Kemi Badenoch said Mr Isaac had "never raised" his concerns with her, adding: "It's simply not true the Government is dragging its heels on this issue and I absolutely refute that."

SIZZLE SISTERS:
Kaili and Bella

By GRACE HOOPER news@sundaysport.co.uk

HOLLYWOOD hottie Bella Thorne's older sister is at the centre of an X-rated PORN riddle after pictures purporting to show her SUCKING COCK appeared on the internet.

Kaili Thorne, 28, who has appeared in a stream of TV movies, is one of former Disney star Bella's three siblings.

Eyebrows were raised last week when snaps of a woman – who looks very like Kaili – appeared on an internationally notorious website.

The woman in the photos is greedily sucking on a man's penis.

Midweek Sport has been unable to verify if the photos are genuine, stolen private snaps, or if they are clever FAKES.

Explicit

Kaili DOES have an OnlyFans account – where she posts rude snaps – but it is not immediately obvious if the images have been taken from there.

But Bella (right) would not be overly horrified if the photos WERE real – as she is no stranger to X-rated content.

Last year she produced a film for grot giants PornHub called Him and Her, which featured explicit see-it-going-in action.

Joker's fish tank prank goes viral

COPS have been called in after a prankster in just a pair of underpants dived into a giant aquarium filled with rare and exotic fish.

A pal of the joker made a film of the stunt, which has since gone viral.

But Jake Burgess, managing director of Sydney Zoo in Australia, slammed the man's behaviour, saying: "We are completely appalled people are behaving this way."

"It not only jeopardises their own safety but that of the welfare of our animals as well."

Police are investigating the incident and it has been referred to the RSPCA.

Virus could pull plug on two-day Swing Fest

A SWINGERS' club is planning a big sex event at the end of August – but it may fall foul of coronavirus restrictions.

HU9, in east Hull, is hoping to hold its annual two-day Swing Fest – including large stage, light show, live DJs, tribute acts, an “adult bouncy castle” and fire breathers.

The private members club says the event is for swingers only and has been advertised on swingers' websites.

One advertisement says: “We have a great mix of swingers coming from all round the country to our festival.”

It promises a “very discrete (sic) and fun, safe environment” for adults to “take swinging to the next level.”

But one swinger, who is also an NHS worker, questioned whether the event should be held during the coronavirus pandemic.

The swinger, who wishes to remain anonymous, said: “Many hundreds are attending the two-day sold out event, booked into local hotels and have no intention of socially distancing.”

“I am a swinger myself but I am also an NHS worker. The level of risk the club's owners and their attendees are taking is totally irresponsible.”

Greggs profits eaten away by killer bug

GREGGS is still struggling to reach the heady heights of last year, even after reopening hundreds of sites across the UK.

Last week, the bakery chain only sold 72 per cent of the pasties, drinks and sandwiches that it did over the same seven days in 2019.

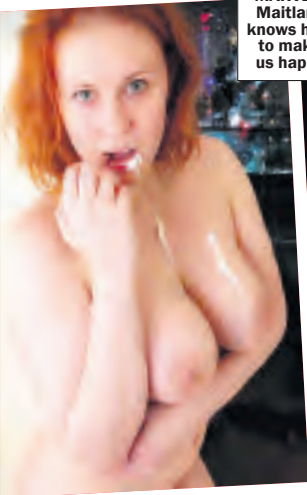

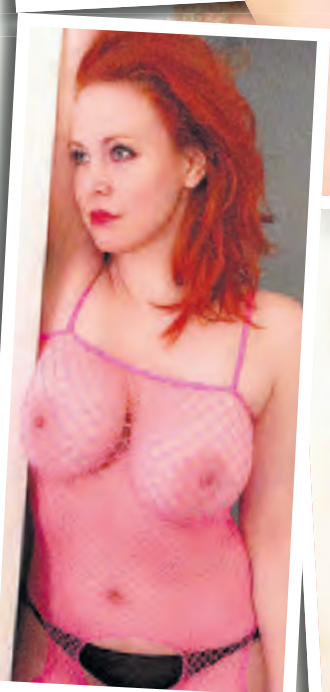

However, it said sales are more encouraging as life after lockdown slowly gets back to normal.

Greggs bosses are now hoping for even more growth as the business contends with a swing to a major loss.

Last year, the chain made a pre-tax profit of £36.7million in the first half of the year, but the repercussions of the coronavirus led to a £65.2m loss in the six months to July.

Sales across the six months were down 45% to £300.6m.

MAITLAND: PORN CAN SAVE THE WORLD!

By GRACE HOOPER

THE world may be going to hell but sexy Maitland Ward reckons she can change things for the better – with PORN!

Maitland, who shot to fame in the Yank sitcom Boy Meets World, has since shifted to a successful career in adult films.

And the flame-haired beauty says she's used the Covid-19 lockdown to entertain fans – all while shedding the stigma of porn in the process.

Maitland, 43, said: “People say porn ruins relationships.

Helped

“Quite the contrary. When used properly, it can make your sexual life with your partner better than ever.

“It's not porn – it's a stale bed, that ruins marriages.”

Maitland, who has starred in several films for high-end adult film giant Deezer, is adamant that porn can be a crucial way to connect.

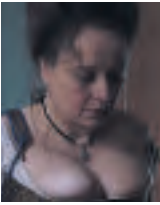

She said: “I just love it when people tell me that I've helped get them through this hard time.

“A lot of people tell me that my content is a happy place for them.

“There's a real need, not only for sexual gratification but also for real, human connection during this time.”

Harlots star's 'dignity' praise over sex scenes

SAMANTHA Morton has praised her show Harlots for shooting sex scenes with a "female gaze" – revealing that "awful" experiences reduced her to tears on previous projects.

The Oscar-nominated actress, 43, said the Harlots cast were treated with "a huge amount of dignity" while filming sex scenes for the show, in which Morton plays a brothel madam (above).

"I think we were a little bit different in how we approached shooting sex scenes," she said.

"This is all from a female gaze and what I saw was the actors were treated with a huge amount of dignity."

She said filming sex scenes was "very different" in the 1990s ITV crime drama Band of Gold, in which she played a 15-year-old sex worker.

She said she would be "sobbing" in her trailer in anticipation of sex scenes, and that the team behind the show "just didn't know any better".

DUMPED IN BROOK:
Keeley Bunker

I KILLED HER DURING SEX...IT WAS AN ACCIDENT

LIED: Streete told court he was too 'scared' to tell truth

Tragic girl's pal denies murder

A MAN accused of raping and murdering his friend after a night out told a jury he "accidentally killed her" during sex.

Wesley Streete, 20, told Stafford Crown Court how, after Keeley Bunker's death, he put her body in a brook and covered it with branches in the early hours of 19 September 2019.

Ms Bunker, who was 4ft 11in and weighed just six-and-a-half stone, was later discovered by her uncle, who was part of a search party looking for the missing 20-year-old in Wigginton Park, Tamworth, Staffs.

Giving evidence in his defence, Streete denied deliberately killing Ms Bunker.

He admitted lying to the victim's family, friends and the police about what happened because he was "scared" and "embarrassed".

Neck

Streete claimed the two were having sex at the time Ms Bunker died.

His barrister, Rachel Brand QC, asked: "When Keeley Bunker died, did that happen in Wigginton Park? Were you with her?"

"Yes," he replied, to both questions.

Then Ms Brand asked: "Did you deliberately kill her, Wesley – on purpose?"

"No," said Streete. He was asked: "How did she die?"

Streete replied: "I put my arms around her neck and accidentally killed her. We were having sex."

Asked if it was he who "put her body in the brook" and "covered it with branches", Streete replied: "Yes".

"Why did you tell lies about what had happened?" asked Ms Brand.

Streete said: "Because I was scared."

"I didn't know how to act and explain to other people how she died because I felt embarrassed in myself and very scared to explain to police – everyone."

"My mom and dad – everyone."

Streete agreed he had had some "problems with reading and writing" and had left secondary school without qualifications.

Rape

Prosecutors have told the jury Streete changed his account of what happened at least four times between his arrest and the trial.

Streete, of no fixed address but previously of Tamworth, is also accused of two further counts of rape, three counts of sexual assault and a charge of sexual activity with a child, against three other victims, all said to have happened in previous years.

He denies all charges and his trial continues.

Thousands 'can't understand our Covid language'

CAMPAIGNERS have whinged that the government's anti-Covid advice has been translated into "only" 25 languages.

A "lack of translated coronavirus guidance is jeopardising the safety of non-English speakers in the UK", a joint letter to the health secretary claims.

The government said it has reached a "wide audience".

But campaigners say it is a "limited range of languages" and the translations can take weeks to be updated when advice changes.

One charity said the government has so far shown "no engagement" on the issue.

In England and Wales, a whopping 88 languages other than English are spoken as a main language.

PERKY EXIT: Masked Whitney (left) after giving evidence at libel trial involving Amber Heard and Depp

AMBER'S SIS MAKES HER POINT AT HIGH COURT

THE Johnny Depp libel trial has been heavy going but spectators got some light relief in the form of Amber Heard's sister Whitney who sported a pair of pert raspberries as she left the High Court.

Whitney Henriquez had been questioned over a video which Johnny Depp's lawyers claim shows the actress assaulted her.

The footage was said to have been given to his legal team by a "confidential source", after Whitney Henriquez told the court Ms Heard has never attacked her.

It was allegedly filmed in 2006 or 2007 and was the unused rushes from a reality television show.

In it, a woman says to Whitney Henriquez, "did you get in a fight?"

Ms Henriquez told the court the women had been talking about a verbal argument she had had with her sister the night before.

The court has been hearing closing statements in the trial.

Hollywood star Depp, 57, is suing The Sun newspaper for libel over a piece by executive editor Dan Wootton which described the Pirates of the Caribbean actor as a "wife beater".

Scammer's life of luxury after £3m virus con

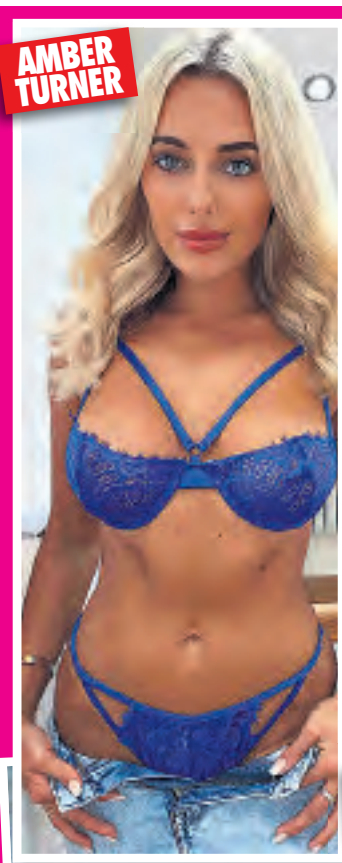

A CONMAN scammed nearly £3million from a coronavirus relief programme – and used some of the cash on a brand-new Lamborghini. David Hines (above) was charged with bank fraud, making false statements to a financial institution and engaging in transactions in unlawful proceeds. Hines, 29, of Miami, Florida, initially tried to get £10m from the US Payment Protection Program through applications on behalf of different companies, saying he needed the money for employee payroll purposes. The bank approved three of the loans totalling almost £3m. Within a few days of pocketing the cash, Hines allegedly bought a 2020 Lamborghini Huracán. He also spent thousands of dollars on dating websites, jewellery, clothes and stays at posh hotels in Miami Beach. Cops linked the car to Hines after he was involved in a hit-and-run incident.

Great white shark kills woman close to Jaws film set

A WOMAN was killed in a shark attack while swimming just along the coast from where the film Jaws was set. She was wading off the shore of Bailey Island, Maine, when a witness saw her being attacked. A pair of kayakers helped her get to shore, and an ambulance provided further assistance, but she was pronounced dead at the scene. The swimmer's name wasn't released. The incident would be only the second recorded unprovoked shark attack in the state. New England shark expert James Sulikowski said he was fairly certain the big fish was a great white shark – the species made famous in the 1975 movie Jaws, which was set just down the coast in Long Island.

CAROL Vorderman has always been good with figures...

But when the telly brainbox was pictured in the hate-filled Daily Mail, arriving for work at BBC Wales, it was SEX TROLLS who focused on her curvy figure.

And one slavering troll suggested that Carol dreams of bouncing up and down on a BIG BLACK COCK!

Carol was looking stunning as she arrived to present her radio show on BBC Wales.

The presenter, 59, slipped into a figure-hugging black ensemble as she flaunted her enviable figure.

Gagging

But many on the Mail's website saw this as the green light to make personal and lecherous remarks.

A user calling themselves "disillusionedUKer" wrote: "All those years ON CH4 and now it looks like she's gagging to be on BBC lol".

BBC is sex people slang for BIG BLACK COCK.

It didn't end there. A "Mr Magoo" wrote: "I bet she loves it. A right goer."

And another called "Kwackett" slavered: "She looks like she's just had a 69."

In a candid interview, the TV and radio presenter said: "One of the sad things is that people think I am only ever talking about the way I look. I just choose to pay no attention to it. "Instead it's, 'how big is her bottom?'".

Naked intruder shot in the balls

A NAKED man was shot in the BOLLOCKS after he entered a woman's home without permission.

Cops who responded to the incident found a male with a gunshot wound to his "lower extremities".

Their investigation revealed the man approached an apartment while completely nude and knocked on the door.

A female occupant opened the apartment door in Port Arthur, Texas, and the male walked in without permission.

"The occupant of the apartment discharged her weapon, striking the male subject," Detective Mike Hebert said.

"The male subject's injuries were non-life threatening and he was transported to a local hospital for treatment."

No arrests have been made.

Sickos loot church then shit in foyer

A GROUP of godless looters pillaged a church – and then SHAT in the foyer.

The group broke through the back door to gain access to the place of worship.

But before they left, one of the deviant crooks defecated in the church's foyer, a member of the congregation said.

Pastor Marcia Stanley said: "They messed up my office, broke up the safe, break up the doors, break up the kitchen. What could possess them to do things like that? Can't they see this is the house of God?"

Police announced they are looking for at least three culprits who stole £8,000 worth of electronics from the Creston Avenue Baptist Church in The Bronx, New York.

The burglary threatens to delay the church's anticipated post-COVID reopening next month, Pastor Stanley said.

LESBIAN LUST MISS LICKED OUT TEEN GIRL

NAKED IN BED: Charles

A LUST-CRAZED lesbian school miss hungrily licked out the private parts of a shy 16-year-old schoolgirl, cops allege.

Kimberly Charles was caught NAKED in bed with her victim by the girl's sister!

West Palm Beach Police in Florida arrested Charles, 27, on multiple charges of sexual activity by a person over 24 on a victim 16 or 17 years of age.

She was also charged with "lewd" offences against students by an authority figure.

An investigation began in May 2019 when police received a report about the relationship.

Exposed

A school board employee reportedly saw Charles with her head in the student's lap as the victim caressed the teacher's head in a lab at Forest Hill High School.

A relative of the victim told police she saw the teen and Charles kiss on the lips in her car at Christmas in 2018.

She also saw Charles, in her bedroom, with her breasts exposed and the victim in the bed awake, according to a police report.

Police said the teen eventually confirmed the sexual relationship and said that Charles sent her explicit NUDE videos via Snapchat.

She said the two met during her junior year and began dating during her senior year, calling it a "normal relationship".

Charles is due to appear in court later this week.

The Palm Beach County School District said Charles was "non-reappointed" at the start of the 2019 school year.

MASK HYSTERIA 1

SHOPPERS COVER FACE WITH NAZI FLAGS

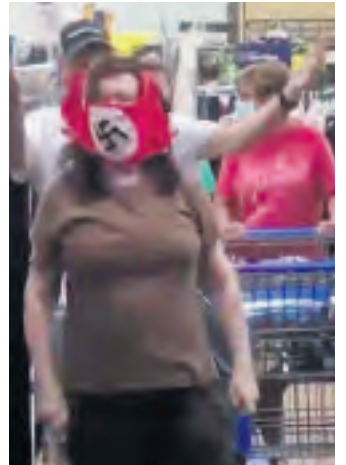

A COUPLE marched through a supermarket wearing facemasks adorned with giant swastikas.

The pair were caught on a shopper's camera at a Walmart store in Minnesota.

The bizarre demonstration appears to be by Donald Trump supporters in advance of his US presidential election fight against Barack Obama's former vice-president Joe Biden.

On the recording, the woman can be heard saying: "If you vote for Biden, you're going to be living in Nazi Germany. That's what it's going to be like."

The video was shot and posted to Facebook by Raphaella Mueller.

Moaning

The shopper can be heard protesting to the couple: "You're literally wearing a Nazi flag right now."

"We literally had a fking war over this. The Nazis lost. Please don't wear those masks."

But the unnamed mask-wearing woman responded by moaning that her fellow shoppers face arrest if they returned to the store.

Both left without incident.

Writing on Facebook, Mueller said: "I was born and raised in Germany."

"Let me make this abundantly clear – the swastika is a hate symbol and you do not fly that flag or wear the symbol anywhere on your body."

"You do not use or defend this symbol, ever. End of story."

MASK HYSTERIA 2

DOG WALKERS PEPPER-SPRAYED FOR NOT WEARING MUZZLES

A WOMAN squirted PEPPER SPRAY on a dog-walking couple for not wearing facemasks.

The targeted pair, Ash O'Brien and hubby Jarrett Kelley, said their attacker, who was wearing a mask, launched her ambush after shouting at them for not donning face coverings.

The pair had stopped to eat at a picnic table in the Dusty Rhodes Dog Park in Ocean Beach, outside San Diego, California.

First she "started saying stuff about us not wearing a mask when we were social distancing – even though there was no one near us," O'Brien said.

The woman also took them to task for eating at a picnic table at the park while they were there with their three-month-old puppy, claiming it was against the rules.

"She just came up without saying anything and just stuck the Mace can right in front of my face," O'Brien said.

San Diego police confirmed they had received a report alleging battery over the incident.

Airport gun lady was 'equipped for a small war'

A WOMAN was caught bringing a LOADED assault rifle and enough ammo for "a small war" though an airport.

The traveller from East Orange, New Jersey, was at Newark Liberty International Airport when security officers discovered the rifle, which had "a high-powered magazine and an arsenal of ammunition."

The weapon had been "artfully concealed" behind the lining of a suitcase.

Though guns are allowed to be packed in checked-in bags, they must be placed in a hard-sided container, unloaded and disclosed to the airline when checking the bag at the ticket counter.

However, the laws for possessing certain firearms vary between states. High-capacity magazines and assault rifles are both illegal in New Jersey.

Port Authority Police were alerted to the scene and arrested the woman and the man she was traveling with.

A source said: "It looked like she was going equipped for a small war."

Devil of a scholarship at this uni!

THE Devil is offering university scholarships!

The "Devil's Advocate Scholarship" offered by the Satanic Temple will be awarding two lucky 2020 undergrads £400 to help fund their pursuit of higher education.

The Satanic grant is an "opportunity to offer our own scholarship that reflects our values", according to Malcolm Jarry, co-founder of The Satanic Temple (TST), based in Salem, Massachusetts.

Said values include "religious pluralism", "benevolence and empathy", the rejection of "tyrannical authority" and the protection of "free-thought", according to the description on the group's website.

It's not clear if successful applicants for the Luciferian fellowship will have to sell their soul.

HUBBY CHOPS UP HIS WIFE AND FLUSHES HER DOWN DRAIN

MURDER CHARGE:
Kruger stabbed wife

A MAN has been charged with murdering his wife after her chopped-up body was found in a drain near their holiday home.

Billy Kruger was arrested as he was about to fly out of France from Toulouse – hours after police found the remains of Laure Bardina-Kruger in the village of Peyriac-de-Mer.

The French-American citizen is charged with aggravated murder after confessing to cops that he stabbed his 52-year-old wife twice, telling an investigating magistrate that it was in self-defence.

The couple – who had spent a few weeks each year in Peyriac-de-Mer, on the Mediterranean, south of Narbonne – had planned to leave on Friday for their home in Jakarta, Indonesia, where Bardina-Kruger worked as a teacher.

Dumped

"The victim's father sounded the alert after his daughter did not turn up for a family reunion in Carcassonne," an investigator said.

"She was due to say goodbye to everybody before the couple returned to Jakarta.

"Instead, police were instructed to search for the victim and they found her body in a drain in a road near the house."

It's not clear if Laure's remains were dumped straight in the drain or flushed down the toilet.

After her body was found, police launched a search for her husband, who was arrested in the departure area of Toulouse airport.

"We don't know yet what happened, but we never got any alarm signal from Laure regarding violent acts against her by her husband," Bardina-Kruger's brother Pierre Bardina posted on Facebook.

"You always think this can only happen to other people, but violence against women can happen all of a sudden."

The couple were last seen at a restaurant in Peyriac-de-Mer on Thursday night, hours before she was slain.

Bardina-Kruger, who taught at the Jakarta Intercultural School, previously had teaching posts in Shanghai, Cairo and Hawaii.

Kruger, in his 50s and from Brooklyn, New York, is believed to have worked as a diving instructor in Indonesia.

IS this why folk are happy to pay a bit extra at Waitrose?

Gorgeous Chloe Ayling posted this revealing sexy snap on her Insta feed, along with the caption "Sunday Waitrose run" at the weekend.

And in another post – not posed for in the upscale grocer – the Celebrity Big Brother bombshell left nothing to the imagination as she stripped completely naked – but covered her bits to comply with Instagram's no nudity rules.

The 22-year-old, who hit headlines after she was abducted in 2017, is known for her racy online photos.

FOUNTAINS DIP MAN DROWNS

A HOMELESS man went for a dip in a Las Vegas casino's world-famous dancing fountains pool – and ended up drowning.

The man had been talking to himself before he climbed into the pool at the Bellagio hotel, swam to the centre and then started to struggle.

One tourist jumped in to try to rescue the man but "unfortunately wasn't able to get very far", police Captain Dori Koren said.

"It was too late by the time we responded."

Fire Department divers recovered the body of the man, who was later identified as 52-year-old David Swift.

Visitor Kayla Eklund, a 21-year-old college student from Michigan, called 911 while another tourist jumped in to try to rescue him.

The man, she said, swam to the middle of the pool, turned back and then started struggling near the spot where he jumped in.

"He was just staying in one spot treading water," she said.

"He started yelling, 'Help, help, help!'"

Dead-eyed slaughterer Michael Madison is every cop's worst nightmare.
Known to police from a young age, he graduated from drug dealer to sex offender to rapist – and finally to trophy-keeping serial killer...

HE LAUGHED AT VICTIMS

Serial killer kept bodies in bin bags

MONSTER Michael Madison was handed a death sentence in June 2015 for the murders of three innocent women.

Shortly afterwards, Van Terry, the father of 18-year-old Shirellda Terry – who was one of Madison's victims – approached the stand to tell the courtroom about his loss.

He said: "Right now, I guess we're supposed to forgive this clown who has touched our families, taken my child."

The grieving father turned around to look at Madison – the man who abducted, raped and murdered his daughter.

And Madison looked back at him with a big, sneering smirk on his face.

Terry snapped. He bolted across the courtroom and lunged at Madison, while guards desperately tried to keep them apart.

By KOURTNEY KENNEDY
news@sundaysport.co.uk

It's this utter contempt for the agony he's caused that makes Madison, now 41, one of the most cold-hearted killers in Ohio's history.

Terry later told reporters: "He looked at me and smiled. It was so disrespectful."

"I was thinking how he mutilated my child, cut my child, and he did it all while she was still alive."

Strangled

"I don't know if I thought about leaping or what have you. I just know I wanted him."

Put yourself in Van Terry's shoes. Chances are you'd feel no different.

And there could be more grieving fathers out there who don't yet know the fate of their loved ones.

Because, while the official death count for Madison is three, police suspect there could be many, many more.

Madison was 35 at the time of the killings. Each one of his victims – Shetisha Sheeley, 28, Angela Deskins, 38, and 18-year-old Shirellda – had been lured to his apartment between October 2012 and July 2013.

Once inside, they'd been strangled to death and their bodies put in black bin bags.

Like a twisted trophy hunter, Madison kept the corpses either on his property or so close to his house that he could see them out of his back window, slowly rotting in the plastic he had wrapped them in.

When other girlfriends complained about the nasty smell lurking in certain rooms, he blamed the stench on dead raccoons, telling one: "You don't want to see that. It's gruesome."

Like so many serial killers, Madison was moulded – and warped – as a youngster, growing up in a deeply dysfunctional family.

Raised in East Cleveland, Ohio, when he was two years old social services reported that Madison's mother, Diane, had stuffed food down his throat with such force that he'd vomited.

Diane – herself a victim of child rape and abuse – then put a sick-soaked Madison into a red-hot bath, scalding him with the boiling water.

Rather than comfort her child, she then beat him with an extension cord in an attempt to stifle his screams.

A year later, when Michael was three, social services returned to the house to find Madison so badly beaten he needed hospital treatment.

As defence lawyer David Grant explained:

MONSTERS OF DEATH ROW

THE WORLD'S MOST EVIL MURDERERS
AND THE HORRIFIC CRIMES THAT SAW THEM SENTENCED TO EXECUTION...

"This individual had no foundation on which to make the proper choices."

"The evidence will show that his life was further influenced by a disturbed family tree, comprising generations of physical abusers and sex abusers."

"It was, quite literally, a family tree of abuse."

Against the backdrop of such a history of neglect and pain, Madison became a nomad in his late teens, at one point moving in with an uncle in Pennsylvania.

The uncle, however, was the opposite of a positive influence and the pair instead revelled in trying to have sex with the same women.

Madison was in and out of prison for drugs offences until things took a much darker turn in 2002, when he was convicted of attempted rape.

After serving a jail term, Madison resumed his drug-dealing business, living a relatively 'normal' life.

He also became a father of two before eventually splitting from his wife, Tenia Plummer.

Before that, though, they would be very sociable, often partying with neighbours.

Little did friends or family realise that the bodies of the women Madison had killed were sitting just a few yards

IN FRIDAY'S

WOMAN HATER: Madison said he was 'pretty sure' he'd killed more than just three women

VICTIMS (from top): Angela Deskins, Shetisha Sheeley and Shirellda Terry away from where they were raising their glasses.

The first sign of trouble came on July 19, 2013, when cable TV workers notified police of a 'horrible stench' coming from Madison's garage, as well as the presence of 'hundreds of flies'.

Court files reveal: "Upon entering the garage, police located a large plastic bag jammed between the vehicle and the wall of the garage".

Fluid

"Officers pulled the bag out onto the driveway and began cutting into it.

"After cutting through six layers of garbage bags, a large amount of fluid began to seep out of the container and run down the driveway.

"At that point, realising the bag might contain something other than decaying garbage, the officers stopped what they were doing.

"It was promptly determined that the bag contained a body. "The body was identified three days later as Shirellda Terry, 18, who had been reported missing by her parents nine days earlier, on July 10, when uncharacteristically she did not come home from her job.

"To fit into the garbage bags, her body had been folded in half, with her feet at the level of her ears."

Shirellda had died from strangulation – but a coroner also revealed how she had suffered a deep wound to her vaginal area made by a serrated knife.

A police SWAT team nabbed Madison later that day while he took refuge at his mother's house nearby.

During his first interrogation he joked with police, telling one officer: "We're going to be famous."

He added: "I'm not expecting to beat this. This is ugly, trust me."

"I'm numb right now, I'm truly numb."

Realising they were potentially looking at further murder victims, detectives returned to Madison's home.

The court documents add: "Some 15 minutes after beginning their search of the neighbouring fields and abandoned houses on July 20, the detectives found another body."

"The discovery was made in a field behind a garage that was located near Madison's apartment building."

"It was another garbage bag, covered over with debris and vegetation."

"Once the debris was removed, the bag was clearly visible."

Hitting

"A few hours after discovering that first garbage bag, the detectives discovered another similarly shaped bag in the basement of a nearby abandoned house on East 139th Street, located below one of the broken basement windows."

"They theorised that the body had been dropped through the window."

"The abandoned house was less than a hundred yards from Madison's apartment building."

"The bodies were later identified as Shetisha Sheeley and Angela Deskins."

Fearing this might just be the tip of the iceberg, cops began asking Madison if there were even more bodies.

While he scoffed at the notion of 10 victims, calling that number 'extreme', he added: "Only time will tell. If there's three, I'm pretty sure there are more."

During his trial, several women came forward to testify that Madison was a woman-hater.

Neighbour Eugenia Thomas said: "He got upset with women."

"He talked about hitting them and tying them up. He liked submissive women."

When Madison was eventually handed his death sentence, Cuyahoga County common pleas judge Nancy McDonnell told him: "You clearly have no respect for the law and no respect for human life."

It might take years for the state of Ohio to jab a lethal injection into Madison's arm.

And for family members whose loved ones have been taken away, that day can't come soon enough.

Shetisha Sheeley's sister, Samara, said: "If you get the injection, you take the easy way out."

"It's a lose-lose situation here and it makes me think selfishly."

"Thinking that your family will get to see you behind bars makes me want to see you die."

COPS ADMIT: MONKEYS HAVE GOT US BEAT!

GOING APESHIT: Urban monkeys taking control

City to be evacuated as apes take control

HORDES of sex-mad monkeys have beaten cops battling to stop them overrunning a city.

Police had been trying to control the marauding apes but have admitted they're powerless to stop the simian surge.

And now the only hope is that the monkeys will EAT themselves to death in the Thai city of Lopburi.

Citizens in the tourist hotspot are afraid to leave their homes due to the vicious macaques, which have set up home in a disused cinema – and have developed a taste for junk food.

By GRACE HOOPER
news@sundaysport.co.uk

An estimated 6,000 monkeys are terrorising locals, attacking anyone brave enough to stand in their way.

Unfortunately some residents first thought the best way of calming the overzealous monkeys down was to give them fast food – but this has just made the situation worse.

Police officer Nirad Pholngeun said trying to disperse large groups was "hopeless".

He added: "Within a blink of an eye there are more monkeys. So many babies."

As a result of their unhealthy diet, the urban monkeys have less muscle than wild macaques, with many suffering from high blood pressure.

One wildlife expert said: "The monkeys are never hungry, just like children who eat too much KFC."

The only hope is that the obese monkeys will start dropping dead from overeating – if not, the city may have to be EVACUATED.

City resident Kuljira Taechawattanawanna, lamented: "We live in a cage but the monkeys live outside. It's like Planet of the Apes!"

Monkey numbers have doubled in two years, and parts of the city have become no-go areas.

RANDY Dani Maye once had an orgy with three men and two women and reckons it was the best day of her life!

The 32F beauty, from Kingston in south London, said having so many people pay attention to her made for an intense sexual experience.

Dani, 26, said: "I was seeing a guy at the time and he started talking about swinging. We went to a club he knew and started going for it in one of the rooms where people can join in with you.

"Soon there were three men and two women all paying me attention - it was the best day of my life!"

WEALTHY WHINGERS:
Harry and Meghan and (below) their luxury mansion

IF what is on course to be this year's best-selling book has even a flicker of truth in it, Prince Harry is lost to the rest of us for good.

The spare to the heir has reportedly given a subtle green light to people who know other people who might or might not know the hitherto unknown authors of a new royal tell-all dirge, Finding Freedom.

Despite the writers supposedly having had no contact with Our Ginge and his missus, he's nevertheless quoted saying: "It's a sick part of the society we live in today, and no one is doing anything about it."

"Where's the positivity? Why is everyone so miserable and angry?"

Let's try to hazard a guess, shall we? Is it because most of the rest of us weren't born into unimaginable wealth and privilege, with loads of questionable military titles and medals thrown in?

Deluded

Is it because you whinge about hardship from your ludicrous, garish birthday-cake mansion in Los Angeles while real people stand in the drizzling rain at a bus stop in Wigan?

Is it because you complain about a lack of privacy, which some might understand – to a degree – but moved to LA, the very beating heart of the otherwise soulless, self-obsessed, paparazzi-infested world of showbiz?

Is it because Mrs Windsor assumed, as only a deluded me-me-me American could do, that she would automatically take top billing on the poster boards?

You know the one, Hazza – the B-list celeb who to this day seems to wonder why that old woman with the horses and carriages and stuff still gets better headlines than she does?

Is it because you gave a soppy interview to your favourite ITV

Newsman in the searing heat of Africa – surrounded by desperate, dying men, women and children – where without a trace of irony you talked about how "hard" it is being you?

Is it because you appear to not-so-subtly and endlessly raise the spectre of your mother's tragic but accidental death, implying that it's all our fault she was a global superstar and nothing whatsoever to do with being part of the very-well-rewarded-for-opening-youth-centres Firm?

Is it because you preach about saving the planet while still private-jetting off to see Elton and David at one of their many fabulous homes?

Or is it because the pair of you have disappeared so far up your own gilt-edged fundaments that you're peeking out of each other's mouths?

Especially as it appears Meghan – sorry, her "friends" – is now talking for you?

All this bending the knee stuff lately is making me wonder why Harry, and his bride, aren't bending their knees to us, the Great British public.

To say 'thank you' for allowing them to live a life almost none of us could ever hope or wish for in a flash mega-pad that inexplicably has more bathrooms than bedrooms.

No, good luck in Tinseltown, kiddiewinks.

It'll eat you alive.

Sexual healer is accused of orgasm scam

A 'SEXUAL healer' has been accused of ripping off people who paid for a Here She Comes orgasm course and egg-shaped vaginal inserts.

Charlena Barry (above), who calls herself Charlena Ishani online, charged people up to £160 for the course consisting of seven weekly video lectures on how to achieve "insane, mind-blowing, out-of-this-world orgasms".

The package also included a 'Yoni Egg' made out of stone, which can be inserted into the vagina to "help women achieve powerful orgasms and sexual confidence".

But customers claim Ms Barry, from Perth, Western Australia, but now lives in Bali, never delivered on the course or the Yoni Eggs.

Ms Barry admitted as much and apologised to her customers with an Instagram post last month, saying: "I want you to know I'm deeply sorry and all refunds have been issued."

She is offering the same Here She Comes course again from August 5.

THE coronavirus pandemic has sparked a huge surge in online swingers across the USA - with New York City topping the list, according to a report.

Threesome dating app 3Fun reported a steady uptick in the number of messages sent between its 721,927 active users since lockdowns began in March.

Spokeswoman Jennifer White said: "Social distancing makes offline meetings tough. That means most open-minded people are trying to meet new friends online during the pandemic."

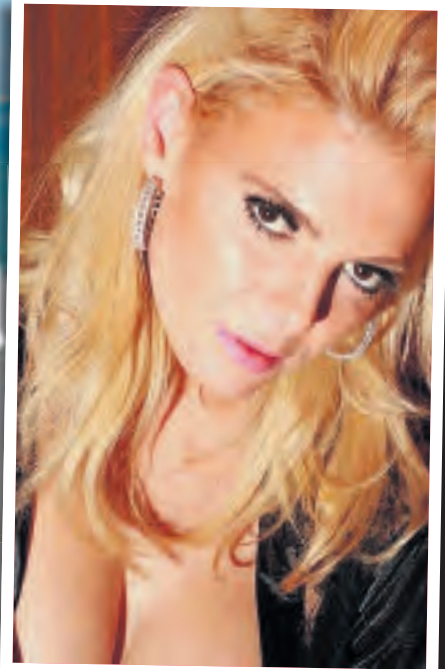

"Once the pandemic is over, they will meet offline for the first time and live out their fantasies." The Big Apple had 22,874 randy residents active on the app, the most of any city, ahead of Los Angeles, California, and Houston, Texas.

Queensland charged with 16 offences.

Cops claim he committed the offences at the behest of the Lone Wolf outlaw motorcycle gang - with three members of the club also behind bars following police raids.

After the attack the pair were left for dead in nearby Ripley Bushland.

But Ms Dufailly eventually managed to leave to get help for Groenewegen.

The injured woman stumbled to a nearby residence, her mouth duct-taped and hands bound with zip ties, and raised the alarm.

"This was a serious, vicious and premeditated attack," said Detective Acting Chief Superintendent Denzil Clark.

Kuhner has been charged with offences including armed robbery, assault, extortion and kidnapping and appeared in Brisbane Magistrates Court.

Detectives from Queensland's State Crime Command's Organised Crime Gangs Group swooped to arrest a 41-year-old Gold Coast man who has also been charged with 16 offences over the alleged incident.

Two more arrests connected with the bizarre case were also made on July 14.

Pistol

A 25-year-old man was charged with the same 16 offences after a raid of his property uncovered a loaded pistol, cocaine and tens of thousands of dollars in cash.

Another pistol found hidden in a vehicle resulted in further drug and firearm charges.

He is being held in custody to appear at Brisbane Magistrates Court on August 5.

And a 34-year-old man still in custody from Southport, Queensland, is set to appear in Brisbane Magistrate's Court on October 20 charged with the same 16 offences.

TIGER NUMBERS ROARING BACK UP

TIGER numbers are increasing across five of the countries where the endangered big cat is found, conservationists have said.

The number of wild tigers is on the increase in Bhutan, China, India, Nepal and Russia - a decade on from the launch of an ambitious scheme to double the population of the species by 2022.

The TX2 initiative was launched in 2010 when it was estimated that wild populations of the cat were at a historic low, with as few as 3,200 animals remaining across the 13 "range" countries where they are found.

Conservationists are marking this year's Global Tiger Day by highlighting successes that have been seen in range countries following efforts to protect tigers and their habitat.

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY

Dear Sam,

I WAS driving back from holiday in the early hours when I was shocked to see the petrol warning light flashing.

I was cruising along hoping for a bit of luck when I saw the lights of a 24-hour petrol station.

I filled up but then, disaster – I'd left my handbag and credit cards at the home of a friend I'd seen on holiday.

So I took the bull by the horns and owned up to the rather hunky fella behind the counter.

And I was filling in a form when I suddenly heard myself saying: "How about a blowjob in exchange for the petrol?"

He laughed, blushed and then said OK. I went behind the counter and I had his seven-incher in my gob in no time.

By then he was game for anything and we went in the back where he rammed me over the desk.

We are now an item and I get a discount on petrol.

KS, Dorset

Sam says...

HOPE you get plenty of mileage out of this deal.

Dear Sam,

I MADE a real fool of myself at a barbecue last weekend. As per usual, it all happened because I'd had too much to drink.

I was swaying gently in the breeze in the back garden, swigging on yet another bottle of beer, when the ugliest woman at the party came over and chatted me up.

I wasn't in a fit state for anything but she wouldn't take no for an answer and, with my beer goggles brimming, I allowed myself to go inside and upstairs with her.

I just stood there as she hauled down my shorts and boxers and clamped her gob round my tool.

To be fair she did get me hard, but I must have drifted off because the next thing I remember is waking up on the bed to find her bouncing on my cock.

She rang me the next day while I was hungover and I agreed to a date. How can I get out of it?

MM, west Yorks

Sam says...

TURN up, see what she looks like sober and clear off is she's a real minger.

Girlfriend's cock-up has cost me nightly gobble

Dear Sam,

ME and my girlfriend have been living together for two months and she is still up for anything – she's even let me take her up the bum a couple of times.

One thing in particular that she loves doing is giving me oral, which she will do at the drop of a hat and often without warning!

When I get home from work at 6pm she's often waiting behind the door on her hands and knees ready to unzip me and take me between her hot lips.

She has a great technique and is an expert at deep throat, taking my full shaft right in before slowly teasing my bellend with her tongue.

But last week I arrived home with a workmate. I had to get something out of the boot of the car and he went in first.

My girl was stark naked behind the door and made a grab for his bollocks as he walked in.

When she realised it wasn't me she screamed in fright and fled to our bedroom, refusing to come out.

My mate was so embarrassed he's giving me a wide berth and now my girl won't speak to me – let alone give me my nightly gobble.

What can I do to sort out this frustrating situation?

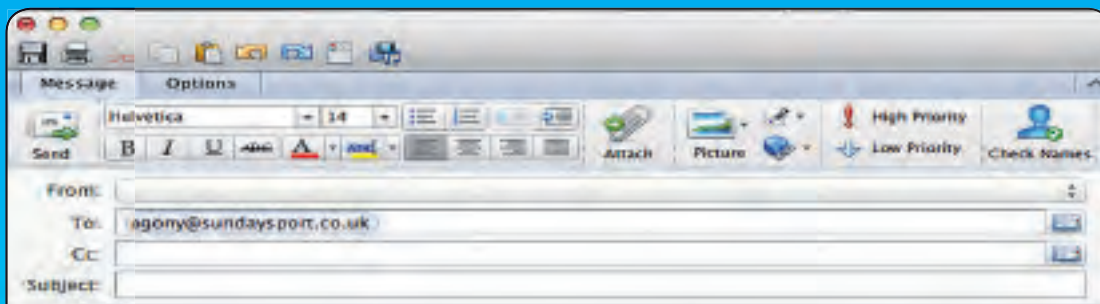

BS, Lancs

Sam says...

TELL her it wasn't her fault and hope normal service is resumed soon.

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week SAM TYE has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Hooker is draining my cock – and my wallet!

Dear Sam,

I'M a father-of-three who got divorced a year ago and I've been dating a hooker for two months.

Actually, I'm not really dating her because it's costing me £300 a week to "take her out".

She's blonde, 21, and sex-mad. I met her one night when I was kerb-crawling in the red-light district. I picked her up and she charged me £50 for an expert blowjob followed by a dirty scuttle – and I have to admit I was instantly hooked.

Saucy

In fact, I was so infatuated with her wonderful technique that I arranged to pick her up again the next night – and I've seen her and shagged her almost every night since.

I don't simply give her one now, though. First, I take her for an expensive meal and then I drive her to some secluded spot, where I hand over the readies and she wastes no time getting down to business.

Last month I took her on a week's holiday to north Wales. I booked a luxury caravan and bought her some saucy lingerie and a nurse's uniform. She charged me a wallet-busting £600 for the week, so I was determined to make her earn it.

On the first night she wore stockings and suspenders and put on the sexy nurse's uniform.

She looked tremendous in the tight uniform, which showed off her big tits and lovely legs.

I got my rock-hard knob out and she sucked me off, running her hot wet tongue up and down my shaft and licking my balls.

She then got her tits out and brought me off all over her fantastic boobs.

We then went to the bedroom and I undressed her and plunged my head between her thighs to lick her out for a while.

The wonderful aroma of her fanny juices soon got me hard again and I spread her legs wide before plunging my cock into her.

She was loving it as I pounded away and she wrapped her legs around my shoulders so I could penetrate her more deeply.

I then took her doggy-style. It was brilliant as I could watch her tits bouncing all over the place in a mirror opposite the bed.

I still see her every night and recently I asked for a discount because I'm spending so much on her.

She said no, but I didn't complain because I'm happy to be going out with her after being stuck in my lonely flat. I want to marry her, but I'm afraid she'll tell me to piss off.

Could you give me some advice please?
MT, Liverpool

Sam says...

I CAN'T help feeling you're being taken for a ride by this woman.

Dear Sam,

AFTER much pestering, my wife of 10 years agreed to let another man fk her while I watched.

We decided to pick a guy off the internet who claimed to have a huge knob and invited him round to our house.

After a few drinks the missus was pretty tipsy and she put her arms around him. He looked at me, as if just to confirm it was all right, and I nodded.

He started caressing the wife's boobs and I watched as her hand snaked between his thighs, searching for his cock.

He spread her legs and slipped between them. She raised up her knees as he placed his cock at the tip of her pussy.

Slowly he slid it into her, inch after inch. He finally got way in and the wife groaned loudly, saying that she'd never felt so full in her entire life.

I watched as he began slowly fking my wife, sliding that large cock inside her.

I watched, masturbating myself, and just as he pushed himself all the way into my wife, shooting his load, I came all over her.

The problem is she wants it to become a regular thing, while for me it was just a one-off.

DB, Birmingham

Sam says...

YOU'VE really only yourself to blame.

Dumped – because I watched lesbo romp

Dear Sam,

I'VE just returned from a lads' holiday in Tenerife. We had a great time with the reps, who were up for just about anything.

I'd promised my girl I'd be faithful, so the closest I got to shagging was when one of my pals brought back a boiler in the early hours and banged her in the bed next to mine.

But on the last night I got totally pissed in a nightclub and managed to lose my pals as they went off in search of some party girls.

I ended up wandering down several corridors when I got back to the hotel and caught a glimpse of two women necking outside one of the rooms. To my surprise, they invited me in.

Moist

One was a cute little blonde and the other was a flame-haired, big-busted stunna.

They told me they were lesbians, so I couldn't join in, but they added that they enjoyed having an audience sometimes.

I sat on the balcony as they stripped off on the couch and took it in turn to lick one another's moist fannies.

They were putting fingers up and chewing on fanny lips while I watched. Finally, they beckoned me inside and let me jerk off over their tits.

Last weekend I told my girlfriend about it and she dumped me.

But I don't think I did anything wrong. Do you?
PL, Lincoln

Sam says...

YES you did – you told her.

'He ripped off my clothes and we had very horny, passionate sex'

MY former boyfriend, let's call him Daniel, was really turned on by the idea of being cuckolded – where a person gets turned on by their partner having sex with someone else.

Historically the word used to mean a man who was unknowingly cheated on by his wife.

Nowadays, the dude is fully aware and gets a sexual thrill from it.

With my ex, at first he started asking me to tell him about any guys who had flirted with me.

Then he asked me to tell him fantasies about me cheating on him. He wanted to know all the juicy details – the dirty talk was a kind of foreplay to him.

I thought it was just role play, but then he told me if I actually met someone in a club and wanted to pull them I could, as long as I told him all about it.

I was only 24 and not really ready to settle down with one person so I was happy to be given the freedom!

And one night I did indeed meet a hot guy in a bar and thought, 'Why the hell not?!' I texted Daniel as I was in a taxi home with this guy to tell him and it was clear from his responses that he was really aroused by it.

The next day I went round to Daniel's and he begged me to tell him everything, and so I did – from how the bloke chatted me up, to what foreplay there was and what positions we did.

He ripped my clothes off and we had very horny, passionate sex.

We broke up after six months, as the spark had just gone.

But I often watch cuckolding porn where the husband is in the room!

SAUCY Viola Healey has a scorching HOT fantasy where she lets a LESBIAN give her ORAL SEX.

Viola, 23, from Newcastle, ogles girl-on-girl porn all the time and dreams of having her own experience with another busty beauty one day.

The 36E stunna said: "I am straight romantically but I do have an eye for the ladies.

"I'd say I'm bisexual and I watch a lot of lesbian porn. Two women pleasing each other is my fave turn-on.

"I love big boobs and girls who look a bit edgy with tattoos and who seem a bit wild. They have to have a naughty twinkle in their eye!

"A woman knows just how to please another woman. The thought of a woman using her tongue on me to make me climax is just heavenly."

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

TIFFANY ROUSSO

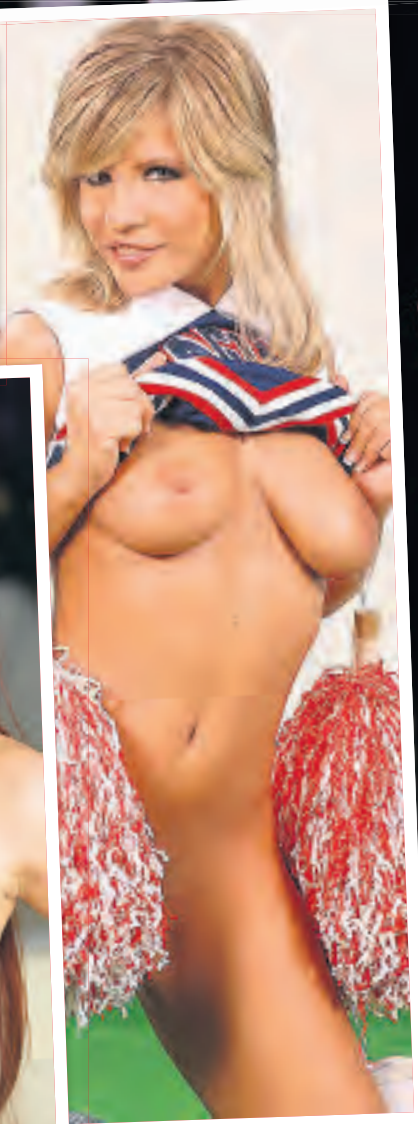

SALES manager David Barnes reckons that his gift of the gab could work wonders on Tiffany Rousso.

The 47-year-old, from Newcastle, asked for a sexy snap of horny Hungarian, 35, with her 34D boobs on show.

He said: "I sell cars all day, everyday, and I've got the chat to sell an igloo to an Eskimo."

"So I'd hope if I ever met Tiffany I'd chat her into bed."

"Until then though, I'm more than happy with a saucy snapshot – she's a real fitty!"

MAI SOL

RETIRED chippy owner Neil Fitzpatrick has his eyes on glamour girl Mai Sol.

Neil, 62, from Fleetwood, sold his award-winning chip shop two years ago and said ogling the babes in the Midweek Sport makes his days brighter.

However, his favourite is 23-year-old Mai, from York – thanks to her perfectly pert 32C boobies.

He said: "I do get bored now I've packed it all in but I look forward to reading the Sport three times a week."

"Can I see a topless picture of Mai in the meantime? Cheers!"

SARAH LONGBOTTOM

SHOP owner Usman Arshad is hoping local beauty Sarah Longbottom might pop in for some milk one day.

Usman, 39, is from Oldham and said he's waiting for his dream day when the 34-year-old model comes into his place.

He said: "I work in a local shop and I know glamour girl Sarah is from around here."

"I love to flick through the Sport when I'm opening up in the morning."

"One day, she might pop in but I'm not sure what I'd do – probably just stare at her 32F boobs and try to pick my jaw off the floor!"

GORGEOUS Natalie Camm hasn't been wasting her time away during lockdown – she's been learning a new language!

The 26-year-old, from Kilburn in north London, said: "There was no point in griping and groaning about not being let outside to go clubbing every night – that way lies true madness."

"We're stuck with this and so we all may as well make the most of it."

"I sat down, thought about what I wanted to do and decided to learn Greek."

The 30F stunna added: "I love Greece and am now able to speak a bit of the lingo when I next go on holiday there."

"I know we're allowed back but I think I'll wait until next year before I visit again. "And I should be fluent by then."

Foxes facing fight to keep top players

LEICESTER boss Brendan Rodgers says he's "relaxed" despite the Foxes facing a fight to keep some of their star players.

Dropping into fifth place on the final day of the season could be costly for the King Power men who miss out on a Champions League place.

And that means the likes of Ben Chilwell and Wilfred Ndidi could be heading for the door. There is also constant speculation about James Maddison looking for a new club.

Chelsea have long been linked with the England left-back and are expected to come in with a big-money bid.

And the team that denied Leicester on the final day — Manchester United — are sniffing around midfielder Ndidi.

When it comes to Chilwell, Rodgers has been answering questions all season about him moving to Stamford Bridge.

The boss said: "It is something I am quite relaxed on."

Improve

"I am fortunate we have a talented group of players which I am sure will interest some."

"All we can offer is a wonderful environment to come and play, develop, work in and improve as a player."

"We will see where it goes from there over the course of the off-season."

Rodgers is adamant that the club doesn't need the money thanks to the deep pockets of its Thai owners.

There has been a major investment in the training facilities, with a new £100m base opening later this summer.

TARGET: Ben Chilwell

Rodgers insists playing in the Europa League is a positive rather than a major disappointment.

He added: "I am excited about that. That takes us into Europe and that experience playing in midweek will really help this squad and make us more robust."

"We would like to add more creativity and attacking thrust at the top end of the pitch."

"We had 51 goals the previous season, we knew if we wanted to arrive in the top six we needed 65 plus and ended up with 67."

"That is a fantastic return in a short period. If you want to challenge above that it is about getting more quality into the squad."

United boss Ole Gunnar Solskjaer is a known admirer of Ndidi and is looking to replace the ageing Nemanja Matic now the season has ended.

YOUNG KOP IDOLS:
Elliott and Jones will get their chance

I DON'T WANT A BIG BENCH!

Klopp delighted with his 'small squad'

JURGEN Klopp insists the key to Liverpool's success is NOT having a load of unhappy players sitting on the bench.

The Reds used 24 players on their run to Premier League glory and four of those only played a handful of matches.

Outside the main 11, many of the fringe players are younger stars who haven't been grumbling about a lack of game time.

And that's the way the German wants it to stay as Liverpool defend their crown. There has been a lot of talk about who he will buy and splashing lots of cash now the transfer window has opened again.

By PAUL THOMAS

But Klopp wants to give his younger players their chance rather than spending big.

The likes of Curtis Jones, Neco Williams and Harvey Elliott can expect to have more of a chance next season.

And young striker Rhian Brewster has made a big impact on loan with Swansea and should figure too.

Klopp said: "The solution cannot be to have a much bigger squad for the specific moment and then realise you cannot use all the players."

"These players can only play the football they play because they know they are needed."

"They are all human beings and nobody can be held back for a year and then on the last day of the year be told, 'Now we need you.'"

"In between now and then there must be a lot of training and support and challenges stuff like this."

"We cannot keep someone in the backyard and bring them up in the decisive moment. That will not help. We will have solutions for that, we have young players."

"The size of the squad is not that important to me, the quality of the squad is very much so."

Klopp admits that the Coronavirus crisis means there is more uncertainty around how much he'll have to spend.

He said: "Usually we know about the funds we have as much as you can know."

"But can you count on the Champions League money and how much will it be?"

"That is all uncertain and that is what we consider because we are not only responsible for the success of the club, we are responsible for all the people at the club and that means everyone who is working here."

"As long as we don't know exactly about things, we have to wait. We have a really good squad, we have to see what we can do, we have to see what have to do, we need still more time."

Tyrell to motor off with big prize

HATS OFF:
Tyrell is the tip

THE first golf major of the year the PGA Championship – yes first – takes place next week but there is a terrific WGC event the St Jude Invitational.

There are 78 golfers teeing up and do note there is no cut in the tournament.

Jon Rahm will tee off as the new world No1 and the Spaniard must make the shortlist having won the Memorial earlier in the month. Rahm is a best price 11/1 at William Hill who are betting seven places and finished seventh in this tournament last year.

Bryson DeChambeau has been the best golfer on tour since lockdown ended and the American has bulked up and added extra distance in the last five weeks.

Surgery

He looks a major winner in waiting to me but my two against the field are Brit Tyrell Hatton and Norwegian Viktor Hovland.

Hatton has finished T6-1-T3-T4 in his four starts since undergoing wrist surgery and has been the PGA Tour's best putter in recent weeks.

The Englishman seems to have matured over the last 12 months and he is no longer prone to the histrionics that blighted his formative years.

At 28 he should be reaching his peak and 28/1 at Hills – seven places – looks a fair ew price.

Hovland makes his WGC debut but is a golfing superstar in waiting at just 22 years of age.

This week's course at Southwind may not suit the bombers from the tee and Hovland has an ideal game for the course.

He has finished in the top 25 in five of the six tournaments since lockdown and he is another 28/1 shot.

★ Brentford have lost their last three games in all competitions and they must address this slump against Swansea this evening.

The Swans take a one-goal lead from the 1st leg to Griffin Park and the Bees have only scored twice in over six hours of football.

The final day of the Championship season was bizarre and while I feel Fulham will be playing Premier League football next term, I think they will meet Swansea in the play-off final.

Swansea are 10/11 to qualify for Wembley and that is the recommendation.

★ Day 2 of Glorious Goodwood begins with a fillies' handicap over a trip just shy of 10f. The classic generation have won three of the last four renewals and I think they will hold sway again this afternoon.

Roger Varian's Waliyak (1.10) finished runner up in the Sandringham Handicap at Royal Ascot last month over the straight mile and she is bred to appreciate the additional quarter of a mile.

A 3lb higher mark looks fair and the selection has yet to finish out of the first two in four career starts. She was backed into 4/1 in a competitive 15-runner handicap last time and she looks open to significant further improvement.

Godolphin's Lake Lucerne and the William Haggas-trained four-year-old Ghaziyah look the main dangers in a cracking opener.

In the two-and-a-half-mile handicap which follows, my two against the field are last year's second and third Seinesational (1.45) and True Destiny with preference for the former who finished half a length in front of Roger Charlton's stayer last term and is 4lbs better off this afternoon.

The ew selection is 14/1 with bet365 and 11/1 with sponsors Unibet who are offering five places. William Knight's five-year-old is ridden by last year's winning jockey Luke Morris and carries just 8st 11lb.

The Gp 1 Sussex Stakes is the feature race of the whole meeting and it is, in my opinion, the best race of the flat season so far with a clash of the generations involving the Newmarket and Irish Guineas winners and two very good older horses.

Strange

Siskin looked good at the Curragh, but I thought Vatican City would reverse the form with Ger Lyons' colt next time they met in the immediate aftermath of the race.

Vatican City ran in the Derby for some strange reason but returns to a mile this afternoon. We still do not know if he stayed the trip at Epsom because of the way the race unfolded, and the same sentiment applies to Kameko (3.15) although I believe the latter's Newmarket Guineas success is the best form on offer.

It is possible that the selection's best trip going forward will be 10f and this sharp mile may catch him out but he did us a big favour last month.

STU CAN CARRY ON FOR YEARS SAYS SKIP

CRICKET

STUART Broad is in the form of his life says former England skipper Andrew Strauss.

Many pundits think the Nottinghamshire seamer is in the final innings of his career at the age of 34.

But Strauss believes Broad is only getting better and will be in the England set-up for a good while yet. Looking at his sparkling form against the West Indies, he could well be right.

Strauss said: "I honestly don't believe Stuart Broad has bowled much better than this.

"When we look at all of his attributes, you can talk about his height and pace but it's actually about his competitiveness as we have seen it this year.

"He is at his best when he has something to prove. He's had the bit between his teeth in these last two Test matches and that has served him particularly well over the course of his career.

"I remember the first time I played with him was in an England Lions game. He was very young at the time. He was probably 20 years of age and fast making a reputation for himself in the county game.

"There was obvious talent and he was comfortable on the big stage, delivering under pressure.

"It was clear he had the assets you needed as a fast bowler: quick enough at 80-85 mph, obviously a lot of height and an ability to swing ball away from right-hander. He had a knack of getting wickets with not great balls, which is a good knack to have.

"But there have been so many bowlers whose star has shone for a year or two then they have been worked out or their confidence has deserted them. I don't think anyone could have said he'd reach 500 wickets but people thought he had the potential to have a long-term England career."

And Strauss believes the Three Lions have been lucky to have Broad and Anderson together.

He said: "It goes without saying they are two of England's greatest of all time and what has really impressed me with both them is their hunger to continue.

"Let's write them off at our peril and let's not be in a hurry to pension them off because they have both got a lot more to offer England."

Havertz tired of waiting for Chelsea

CHELSEA have a week to complete their move for Kai Havertz.

The German wonderkid has a host of offers on the table but is keen on a switch to Stamford Bridge.

But, with just six weeks until the new campaign kicks off, he wants the deal done and dusted now. He has made up his mind to leave Bayer Leverkusen after starring in German football last term.

Chelsea want to make him their third big signing of the season and hope the arrival of Timo Werner in west London will help.

He's big pals with

Havertz and has reportedly been talking to him about following him to the Bridge.

Havertz wants his destiny sealed by the end of next week — and Bayern Munich are waiting in the wings if the move to London goes wrong.

But Chelsea will have to shell out big bucks. Leverkusen boss Peter Bosz has slapped a massive price tag on his star asset.

He said: "He can't be held on to. But that will mean a transfer of 100 million euros — or it could be even more than that!"

Chelsea are thought to have offered around £75m and are reluctant to go any higher.
